

Tech Tools

Natalie Oleshchuk
noleshchuk@mehlvilleschooldistrict.net

Carolyn Scaia
cscaia@hazelwoodschoools.org

Padlet

Website: <https://padlet.com/>

Example Padlet:

<http://padlet.com/wall/gxfdd2pt7znv>

Description: Padlet is an online collaboration tool.

Possible uses: brainstorming, exit slips, discussion questions/answers, curating student or staff resources

Plickers

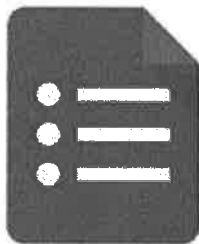

Website: <https://plickers.com/>

Description: Formative assessment tool that does not require students to have their own devices. (Teacher needs Plickers app on either a tablet or phone. Students each have a printed card to hold up.)

Possible uses: formative assessment, comprehension questions about stories, voting

Google Forms

Website: <https://forms.google.com>

Sample Form: <https://goo.gl/NCd1FO>

Description: Google Forms provides a way to collect and organize information quickly and easily for free

Possible Uses: surveys, quizzes, voting, gathering information

Great Blogs to follow
for more info!

Graphic by Educlips

Free Technology for Teachers

By Richard Byrne

<http://www.freetech4teachers.com/>

Blue Skunk Blog

By Doug Johnson

<http://doug-johnson.squarespace.com/>

Adventures of Library Girl

By Jennifer LaGarde

<http://www.librarygirl.net/>

DigCit

(Digital Citizenship)

Natalie Oleshchuk
noleshchuk@mehlvilleschooldistrict.net

Carolyn Scaia
cscaia@hazelwoodschoools.org

* Common Sense Media

Website: <https://www.common sense media.org/>

Description: Common Sense Media has a complete curriculum for grades K-12 related to digital citizenship and online safety. Lesson plans are available along with reproducible and some even have online student games/activities.

* NetSmartz

Website: <http://www.net smartz.org/Educators> (teaching resources)

<http://www.net smartzkids.org/> (videos/games for kids)

Description: NetSmartz provides information for parents and teachers as well as a separate website with videos, games, and ebooks for students.

* Infinite Learning Labs

Website: https://learninglab.org/life_skills/cyberbullying/

Description: Infinite Learning Labs is a subscription website but the section on Cyberbullying is free. Students watch a video with Garfield characters and then have online activities to complete and show their knowledge.

* BrainPOP

Website: <https://www.brainpop.com/technology/digitalcitizenship/digitalaetiquette/>

Description: BrainPOP is a subscription website that has videos about many topics. They have several related to digital citizenship and online safety, however only the Digital Etiquette one is free. In addition to the video there are activities and an online game (online game is also free).

* Disney's Wild About Safety video

Website: <http://goo.gl/WLYe9P>

Description: Disney's Wild About Safety with Timon and Pumbaa: Safety Smart Online is a DVD that helps younger children understand about the internet and how to be safe online. The link above is to purchase the video on Amazon.

Graphic by Educlips